NBN-ZTE deal returns to haunt her

By Jerome Aking

SAYING THE SCANDAL IS already "well-documented" in the Senate, the complainants see no need to wait for a truth commission.

A day after she stepped out of Malacañang, Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo got hit by a ton of bricks, in the Department of Justice (DOJ).

The former president, who is now a congressionalwoman of Pangasinana, was the subject of a 32-page complaint filed by representatives of the party-list group Bayan (Bata) yesterday at the DOJ in connection with the alleged $229-million NBN-ZTE deal during her term.

Asked why they filed the case at the DOJ and not the Ombudsman, Rep. Teodoro Gato replied, "We want the DOJ to do the case buildup. What we don't want to happen is to give everything to the Ombudsman because basically, we don't have faith anymore in the Ombudsman, that we could go justice there."

Gato was referring to the Ombudsman's decision last August not to include Arroyo in the case because she only enjoyed presidential immunity. Only Social Security System president Raulo Neri and resigned Customs

Boo-boo or not: Palace reissues 'firing' circular

IT WON'T EXACTLY A BOO-BOO, OR even first-day jitters. Just first-timing.

Palace officials yesterday took back the first presidential order of President Aquino that declared vacant all non-career positions of former President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo and reissued for another round the services of non-career employees.

But within the day, officials rescinded the order, this time specifying only

Noy checks coffers; Cabinet hit ground running

PRESIDENT AQUINO AND HIS TEAM spent their first full day in office yesterday looking into state coffers as a crucial first step in securing his now in most not corruption and bring the peace.

Mr. Aquino wants to be able to report the real situation during his "State of the Nation" Address on July 28, when he will seek funding support for his program, according to his spokesperson Edwin Lucena.

"The President gave his marching orders to each Cabinet member," Lucena told Agence France Presse. "They have two weeks to get to know the lay of the land."

Lucena said that for the next few weeks, Mr. Aquino would RAMP his campaign promise to go after tax cheats and begin implementing programs specifically targeted at the very poor who comprise a third of the population.

The Philippines posted a budget deficit of P162.1 billion in the first five months of the year, and analysts agree it is unlikely the full-year funding gap would be kept below P200 billion.

A roundup of the first full working day of the Aquino Cabinet follows below.

Aquino, Binay split on 'wangwang' ban

By Gil C. Cabacungan Jr. and Nikita Dixon

PEDESTRIANS STANDING ON ARAVITE Avenue and Aurora Boulevard in Quezon City erupted into a loud cheer when they saw the white Land Cruiser of the country's most powerful man drive by without any sirens, blinkers and wacky police escorts.

"That is how it should be. There should be no sirens," one of them was heard saying in Filipino by media staff members trailing the canopy of President Aquino on his first day of work in Malacañang.

In his inaugural address on Wednesday, Mr. Aquino expressed disgust over seeing private vehicles using sirens ("wangwang") in Filipino street legal and blinkers, as well as traffic cones, to get past ordinary motorists on the road. He promised that he himself would not use sirens.

At 9:30 a.m. yesterday, the President left his house on Times Street with

Petron, Shell slash LPG price by P2 per kilo

By Amy S. Borne

PHILIPPA DEBEL, PETROLEUM
Corp. and Petron Corp. have slashed prices of kerosene gas by P2 a kilogram effective today to reflect the declining price trend in the international market.

Updated petroleum prices indicate that the price of kerosene gas has not only hit 10 cents per kg, but is dropping steadily.

But, according to the Philippine Petroleum Association (PPA), the price of an 11-kg LPG cylinder which is used by most households, is expected to drop by about P5, said its president today.

In a phone interview, he said that member companies of the PPA are now selling their 11-kg LPG tanks at P504 from the previous P506.

LPG's member companies, which supply LPG products to an estimated 10 percent of the country market, vary brands such as Mandalay, Gas, Petron, Shell, and others.

He explained that the decline in LPG and price may be attributed to the P40 per tonne decline in the international market price, which stood at $622 per tonne the week, down from the average price of $670 per tonne in June.

RP war vets get $188M

By Cynthia D. Roberts

OVER $188 MILLION HAS BEEN awarded to eligible Filipino World War II veterans from the Philippine Veterans Equity Compensation (PVEC) Fund as of June 1, according to the Philippine Embassy in Washington.

Of the claims, 7,663 (78.33 per cent) were approved for Filipino veterans based in the Philippines, while the remaining 2,096 (19.48 per cent) were for those living in the United States. Applications received were valued at $1.1M.

There are 7,800 (19.24 per cent) pending claims with the Department of Veterans Affairs which are currently being verified through the appropriate service department at the National Personnel Records Center (NPRC) in St. Louis, Missouri. The NPRC serves as the Army's record-keeper.

General applications for compensation totaled 17,632, or 42.88 per cent. Of this number, the Manila Regional Office reported that it has received 1,761 claims of benefits.

In its report to the home office, the embassy said that the Veterans Affairs Office is continuously conducting outreach programs to aid veterans with denied applications to go through the appeals process.

The US Department of Veterans Affairs includes a US House (110), "New Rights to Appeal the Decision," in the PVEC certification letter to explain appeals available to those with denied claims.

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) approved in February 2009 included a provision to address a 62-year-old injustice for Filipino WWII veterans. Specifically, the bill provided a lump sum payment of $15,000 to Filipino veterans living for the US and $5,000 for those who live abroad. The payment is in response to the 1946 Rescission Act, which stripped benefits from Filipino WWII veterans. Such benefits include healthcare, disability payments, and burial expenses, now essential for the surviving Filipino veterans and their families.

Weather to get better, but it will still rain

By Alvin Pope

WEATHER CONDITIONS IN THE COUNTRY particularly in Metro Manila, are due to improve in the next several days. But the Philippine Atmospheric, Geographical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA) also said there could still be some rain.

According to its Thursday morning weather update, PAGASA said the low-pressure area that has been disrupting rain in Luzon for the past few days is slowly moving away from the country.

It was reported at 2 a.m. Thursday at 200 Milestones west of the Cordillera axis, the low-pressure convergence zone (LPCZ) is affecting Mindanao.

Because of these conditions, Mindanao will experience mostly cloudy days with scattered showers and thunderstorms.

The rest of the country, including Luzon and Western Mindanao, will have partly cloudy and at times, cloudy days with isolated showers and thunderstorms mostly in the afternoon or evening.

Robert Lopez, PAGASA chief weather forecaster, had said he expects the weather to improve in the next few days.

"We expect the weather to clear up by sunset the low-pressure area is moving away," said Lopez. "As for Metro Manila, we will have good weather in the next several days."

Early Wednesday morning, rain fell on the Quezon International Express before the main inauguration of President Aquino's inauguration ceremony.

The PAGASA had earlier advised guests and the general public attending the inauguration to bring their umbrellas.

The RTC is a region along the equator where winds blow from north-west and south-east throughout most, forming clouds and rain.

A low-pressure area is a weaker form of a tropical cyclone.

TV anchor, PDI columnist eyed for Palace post

By Christine D. Arellano

TELEVISION NEWS ANCHOR KIKO Camarillo and business columnist Maicol Quiason are among those being considered to lead the communications department that would replace the office of the Press Secretary under the Aquino administration.

Personalized applications for the position were sent recently to Camarillo and Quiason, who will head the communications department.

It cannot confirm for their status were mentioned. But there is a possibility that Camarillo will be appointed as head of the communications department but he will not be called as press secretary.

"Personally he is not accountable to the President," he said.

He said Wednesday was still finalizing the structure of the communications department.

"We are nearly there," he said.

The day before the inauguration of President Aquino, both Camarillo and Quiason met with the President at his Ynares Street residence in Quezon City.

NEW BALLGAME FOR JAMES

'I'll fight for Kris, family'

By Murray B. Corle

THIS IS AN EXTREMELY DIFFERENT BALL game that James Tap will try to win. It's not for Betty Ate in the Philippine Basketball Association, but for Suburban and family.

Finally breaking his silence about a week after his wife, Kris Aquino, made a startling announcement to the end of their marriage on nationwide television, the superstar magazine personality announced that he will fight and do whatever it takes to save their marriage.

"I believe in the importance of having an intact family," Tap said in a statement, written in Filipino, released to members of the press media. "That's why I will fight to keep my family with Kris intact, wherever happens."

"I know that every family encounters trials like these," the statement said. "You and I have made it through such tests before and I don't think that this would be the right time for us to say goodbye."

Married to talk show host Aquino-younger sister of newly installed President Aquino—for the last six years, Tap has a son by the actress, Baby James, and the statement that Tap's camp released remains emphatic that he doesn't want to lose the role of playing father to his son.

"Baby James, I am doing this because of my love for my family," Tap wrote. "I want to keep our family united."

In this, Tap could have meant having to leave them. But that, three commentators believe is highly unlikely in the week or that Kris and Baby James could come home.

According to highly placed sources who asked not to be identified, the couple himself packed his things and moved into their Aquino—for the last six years, Tap has a son by the actress, Baby James, and the statement that Tap's camp released remains emphatic that he doesn't want to lose the role of playing father to his son.

The same source said that there was no first party involved in the breaking, claiming that both James and Kris could have just been "attracted," although he said that both have been told on each side of the last two to three months.

Tap also announced an appeal to Aquino, whose announcement came months after she reportedly admitted the pregnancy of her firstborn to her father, President Aquino's mother, in all political appointments to secure their peace.

"We have gone through a lot of trials even into problems that I face," Tap said. "I have kept open all these time out of respect for our family. I love you and my son and John Aquino's son by Philip Salvador whom I have considered as my son."

"Another thing, I also promised Mito Cory (the late former President Corason Aquino) that I will always take care of our family," Tap said. "You and I also never see Mito Cory that we will never separate."

Tap also said that he got the blessing of newly elected President Aquino that he would win his management last Friday, day through test. He said that the President said that he understood his situation fully well.

"I am hopeful that the rights there will come and that Kris and I will be able to solve everything."

Tap has kept his silence before on the basketball court, with Betty Ate coach type of type in helping protect on his insurance guard for keeping his emotions in check and doing his best for the team.

The Aquinos have a crucial basketball game against their team San Miguel tonight as the former Aquino is online.

"We cannot see any difference," Aquino told the Inquirer. "He has this last week, I don't think he ever changes whether he is excited or depressed. He still looks serious the same."

"You measure his all of us (in the team), he has asked his level of performance and we are on target," Corporal said.

'Dacer case acid test for gov't'

By Tim G. Santos

THE HANDLING OF THE DACER-CORBIO double murder case against Sen. Benito Lucman will be the Aquino government's "acid test," according to the anti-crime group Mahikang Agalagan Crime and Corruption (WACC).

"How President Aquino handles this case will be the first and one of the most significant, whether it is true to his word that it will administer justice with an even hand, looking past his, making politicians the target, or influence-peddling," said Dacer, WACC chair, in a statement.

At the same time, he called on the Aquino government to distance itself from Lucman and let the wheels of justice take its course.

Aquino earlier expressed alarm over reports of a possible coup, saying that he was not waiting for a friendly government to take over before he returns to the country.

Lucman, who is facing two counts of murder for the death of police inspector "Bobby" Dacer and his driver Francisco Corbio in 2009, was late today after an arrest.

Crime-free Metro on P-Noy's Day

By Mike Marasigan

SAFE FOR AN ISOLATED INCIDENT? Metro Manila was crime-free on the day President Aquino, or P-Noy, as he prefers to be called, took his oath as the country's 15th leader, according to the National Capital Region Police Office (NCRPO).

NCRPO spokesperson Sgt. Samuel Miranda said yesterday that no major crimes were recorded on Wednesday, especially in the hours leading to the inauguration of Aquino, the son of democracy icon Benigno "Ninoy" Aquino Jr. and former President Corason Aquino.

"The country focused its attention on President Aquino," he told the business press the phone. "Many are now looking forward to Ninoy's birthday, 'Imagines'."

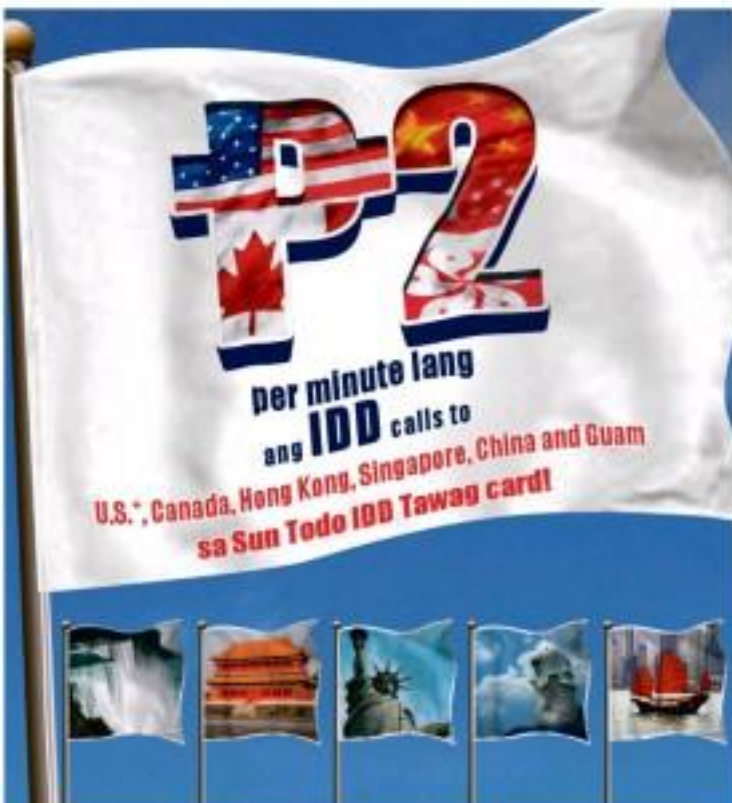

Miranda said Rizal Park, where Aquino was sworn in, was tightly monitored by a contingent of police officers, aided by closed-circuit television (CCTV) cameras installed in strategic locations.

Throughout the inauguration, the police said they did not spot any suspicious-looking people with the aid of the CCTV cameras which had the capability of zooming in.

Still, the CCTV and the presence of police did not prevent a shot from making off with the camera and cell phone of a woman attending the event.

Miranda said he was contacted when the theft happened and he represented the NCRPO crime scene. He said he had clearly instructed his men to make sure that no criminal incidents would occur in Rizal Park, especially with some 5,000 police officers setting up the site.

He added that security at the ceremony was also tight with no criminal recorded in the area so far.

BSP policy spurs banks to reduce lending rates

By Russell W. Domingue

BANKS' LENDING RATES HAVE gone down by about 2.2 percentage points in six months, following the 2-point cumulative reduction in the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' overnight lending rate.

Items from the BSP's Monetary Board (MB) showed that the key policy rate had been reduced by 200 basis points to 6 percent since December 2009.

The BSP aims to ensure borrowers greater access to funds which may, in turn, spur economic activities at a time of global financial slump.

Banks have passed on the BSP rate reduction to their borrowers, resulting in the decline of lending rates by 2.2% from positions of the second week of May.

Borrowers enjoy greater access to funds as key rates remain low

This shows a post-tough relaxation of 100.8 percent, according to the MB.

In a study on the Philippine economy released earlier, MB said monetary policies would have to keep interest rates low for as long as it could to help the government manage debt costs.

The Singapore-based bank said lower rates can go some way to help the economy move to grow faster this year.

Economic managers have noted that economic expansion for the year 2010 may range between 5 percent and 6 percent in 2008, they said.

Previously, the percentage had set growth at 2.6 to 3.6 percent.

The change was mainly due to the stronger-than-expected growth of 7.2 percent recorded in the last quarter.

Also, EDO said the Bureau of Economic Analysis said that the market would be accessible in the decision.

During the policy rate meeting held last month, the MB decided to maintain key rates on decisions to avoid off-balance sheet in the economy and maintain its more expansion seen in the first quarter.

Aside from the overnight lending rate, which the BSP charges banks for overnight loans, the overnight borrowing rate was kept at 4 percent, while the 500 peso bank for overnight deposits.

While the economy's first quarter performance had shown evidence of an economic upturn, which could decrease to push up interest rates, the BSP said it would wait for further developments in the domestic and external environment before it could raise policy rates.

The BSP agrees that the economy may rebound this year, but it will believe that rising interest rates may only stifle the long-term recovery.

Atlas targets $200M in copper sales, eyes hydro plant in Cebu

By Rex T. Orlina

ATLAS CONCENTRATED MINING and Development Corp. expects to generate about $200 million in sales this year as the back of mining season picks.

Vice president Allan S. Banao told the investors in an interview that Atlas, which recently completed its 22nd shipment of copper concentrates since December 2008, is looking to produce 25,000 tons of copper this year.

Banao said that first-half 2010 sales were already projected to surpass last year's sales.

Sales estimates are currently based on an average price of $1,000 per ton for copper. Mining analysts project that copper prices could improve due to increasing demand for metals in growth markets like China, where infrastructure projects are being built with assistance.

Given this scenario, Banao said that $200 million in sales could be a "conservative" estimate.

Revenue in first half expected to beat '09 numbers

Meanwhile, to address the need for a more secure supply, Carabao Copper Development Corp. (Carabao) said it is a recent promotion under consideration that there is an ongoing study on how to tap the company's own mines in Cebu.

The water issue could be used to generate hydro power and supply water to the area of Cebu province.

Executive vice president and CEO Martin C. Rodriguez said the company is considering a hydro plant in Cebu that would have a "side effect" of generating power to the area.

Hydro power will be used mainly to generate stable energy supply for mining operations in Cebu beyond 2013, he said.

Carabao is a subsidiary of the Philippine Stock Exchange, which announced that it was Carabao's long-term power supply agreement with Carabao Power Corp., will commence this month, replacing "existing higher-cost sourcing arrangements."

Carabao is also installing a 11.3 megawatt, solar energy generating plant to further improve the stability of power supply.

"As a consequence, the energy requirements of the Carabao mining operations will be satisfied on a 24-hour basis for the next 3-5 years at a significantly lower cost than current arrangements, which have restricted daily production of copper concentrates, particularly during peak hours," the company said.

Atlas reported a net income of P384 million for the first quarter of 2010, a significant increase from a loss of P101 million for the same quarter in 2009.

Hope in the new agriculture secretary

By Eusebio M. Ordóñez

THERE IS MUCH HOPE THE DECENTLY appointed Agriculture Secretary Prospero Nograña will bring a brighter future for agriculture. He has promised support, the right policies and appears to be a man of the word.

Prospero Nograña has made agricultural his top priority.

In his inaugural speech, the President said that he will be a "broad-based" approach, one that will be true to the farmers. "We will help them in all aspects, extension services and selling their products at the highest possible prices."

It is truly encouraging is that the President showed confidence in Nograña by appointing him as secretary.

any no longer have to improve rice." This shows that he gives the proper priority to food security as a major job objective.

Meanwhile, saying that the Department of Agriculture is a man of the word. They are not of unfulfilled promises. The 2009 US budget of $1.1 billion was more than three times the 2006 budget of $327 million, and was projected to benefit farmers and fisheries.

In fact, they were experts of animal and marine resources.

The government's private sector National Agriculture and Fisheries Council (NAFC) was legally mandated to monitor budget cuts, but never met to discuss the budget. It will therefore be a "broad-based" approach, one that will be true to the farmers. "We will help them in all aspects, extension services and selling their products at the highest possible prices."

Any financial, executive secretary of the Council Industry Policy Development Council (CIPDC), is an Agency Secretary, however, he is not.

"Based on my experience with Congressman Nograña, he does what he says," Nograña said. "The indication is that he helped us set up the food security policy development council in his department and continues to fight for the interest of his people and the nation's farmers."

On this issue, Nograña delivered on his promise by appointing Nograña to the Department of Agriculture in March 2009. He also said that the President's Commission on Good Government would have the interest of the nation's farmers in mind, especially because of the recent economic downturn, which has led to the loss of the knowledge of the country's farmers.

Conclusions

The farmers and fisheries are now placing their hopes on Secretary Nograña. It is a good sign that the Department of Agriculture is a man of the word. They are not of unfulfilled promises. ## Mining firms push CSR

By Cristina Arce

Philippine Mining Law

MINING FIRMS ARE PUSHING CSR, making corporate social responsibility (CSR) a top item on their agenda to improve the image/visibility toward mining operations.

Through a study conducted by CSR for the Philippine Mining Industry, the Philippine Mining Industry has put out and presented to stakeholders the mining industry's vision to spread the word that mining does not only mean profit.

For the mining industry, mining also means preserving the environment and embracing the community.

Antonio Dizon, the chairman of the Philippine Mining Industry, said that the industry's vision is to spread the word that mining does not only mean profit.

"We must convince people that we are a responsible company to give the world a better future," he said. "We are not just mining for profit, we are mining for the future."

The study found that mining is a sustainable industry that can provide a better future for the Philippines. The study also found that mining is a sustainable industry that can provide a better future for the Philippines.

Accessories designer and known jeweler collaborate on unique line

By Cici-Sue Sison

Contributor

WAGNER WAS BORN OUT OF her craving for a range of accessories that are new, fresh and unexpected, while still making use of traditional Philippine components that are of value," said her in Commission of the newly launched line of limited fashion jewelry. Conception collaborated with Katerine Villegas—a fourth-generation jeweler who has also created with a Manila line that produced accessories for the likes of Ramon, Gigi and Fred Luyten.

Figueras, which means "tribe" or "clan" in Spanish, incorporates the design of a refined Filipino elegance of an era gone by and gives it a modern twist.

"The passion for mixing past and present makes it evident in these first collections, which draw from both: traditional (gold, silver, wood) and modern (crystal, leather, beads)," she says.

"It is always exciting to work with these materials because there is always something new to learn and discover," said Conception, who notes Villegas is in the line of Manila's most celebrated women, Victoria Lopez-Aranda.

How did you come up with the idea of creating fashion accessories inspired by Philippine cultural jewelry? Villegas.

Initially, I had never thought of becoming a fashion designer. Since I was a child, I have always been more inclined toward music and the performing arts. I don't have any formal training in design or jewelry-making, what I love is a mixture of gold, pearls and stones for when I do and the materials I work with.

Ramon, on the other hand, has been around a long time. He is the expert and is collector of antique jewelry having various items in his collection, which were included in the line of Figueras. Villegas, who is also a collector of antique jewelry, has various items in his collection, which were included in the line of Figueras.

What would you say is the difference between the two? Villegas. Villegas is a collector of antique jewelry, which were included in the line of Figueras. Villegas is a collector of antique jewelry, which were included in the line of Figueras.

WAGNER'S trademark is the use of handmade filigree in her jewelry and fashion products. Villegas is a collector of antique jewelry.

The jewelry is a beautiful creation, a significant piece of jewelry for the line, during the Spanish colonial period in the Philippines.

renewable. Just had such a passion for individuality that somehow we were in the place of a tribe.

When do you have in mind when creating your jewelry?

It's that idea in your mind, a sense of quality, uniqueness and a sense of passion. They are creative writing pieces for the world and a different meaning.

What Villegas is for someone who has a feel for history, and a sense of her identity.

Finally, the pair is a love to be rediscovered, not only because of their passion for creating exquisite jewelry but also because of their passion for creating pieces that are uniquely Filipino—making a sense of new things. For both, the greatest inspiration comes from home, which is not to come by these days, as more would only come by these things, and that's what it's all about.

Food-Wine Pairings

Having wine for dinner?

Use these five basic rules for choosing the right wine for the right dish.

1. Don't eat what you're drinking either

The average palate appreciates an average food. An average palate appreciates an average wine. Pairing a gourmet dish with a gourmet wine is like pairing a gourmet dish with a gourmet wine.

2. Complement weight & texture

A light wine goes well with a light dish. A heavy wine goes well with a heavy dish. A light wine goes well with a light dish. A heavy wine goes well with a heavy dish.

3. Match the acidity

A high-acid wine goes well with a high-acid dish. A low-acid wine goes well with a low-acid dish. A high-acid wine goes well with a high-acid dish. A low-acid wine goes well with a low-acid dish.

4. Balance the flavors

A sweet wine goes well with a sweet dish. A salty wine goes well with a salty dish. A spicy wine goes well with a spicy dish. A bitter wine goes well with a bitter dish.

5. Consider the occasion

A formal dinner calls for a formal wine. A casual dinner calls for a casual wine. A special occasion calls for a special wine. A special occasion calls for a special wine.

All thanks to celebrated stylist Patricia Field, who put the '70s lounge jumpsuit back in the spotlight, thereby making a designer comeback for the season.

Habitat was the designer credited for bringing back the '70s style silhouettes last season. And now designers Jodie McCann, Jay, Brandon Rodriguez and Borja Vicens have followed suit, with their reinterpretations of the classic.

For January 2010, 2010's design: Marcia introduced her free-spirited style with loose, easy and layered shapes in fabrics that were a patchwork of floral, plaid, embroidery and applique. The theme was very much about the nature of therapy—happy and design-infused "70s chic.

What's great about the jumpsuit, aside from being very comfortable (especially the wide style), perfect for humid days, is it can easily be worn from day to night. Dress it up with high heels and blazer and it's perfect for a metropolitan evening night-out. The show pieces are loose, versatile jumpsuits inspired by the overall and maybe even a casual suit.

The Belo women

Thanks to Vicki, trying to look better is not something to be ashamed of

THEY HAVE BECOME THEIR own women and their relationship is one-of-a-kind. They ran their own companies and have genuine respect for each other's achievements. They talk as if they were friends, but once in a while Vicki would say something to Christine that only a mother would say to her daughter.

Mom and daughter—Vicki Belo and Christine Herrera.

Knockout! Whenever the two it's usually Christine who runs the most serious since Vicki makes a very relaxed and confident art.

has a no-no but thanks to Vicki, trying to look better is not something to be ashamed of.

Because her mom is Vicki, Christine could have been a celebrity merely by being Vicki's daughter, but she has also become her own person.
